

IAN McDONALD, AIA

ABOUT THE FIRM

Ian McDonald Architect, PLLC was founded in 2002 as a full-service architectural design firm focused on contextual projects customized to the needs of each client. It is the goal of the office to develop traditional New England style Architecture that meets today's use and functional needs through a commitment to design excellence and attention to detail. The firm strongly believes that the working relationship between architect and client is what ultimately determines the success of any project. The office's current projects are located in Suffolk, Nassau, and Westchester counties.

Ian McDonald, AIA earned a Masters in Architecture from Syracuse University School of Architecture in 1995 and has since been involved with architectural design in New York City and surrounding areas.

He is registered in the State of New York and has memberships in the American Institute of Architects (AIA), where he is currently the Peconic Chapter Vice President. He is registered with, and is currently seeking LEED certification from, the United States Green Building Council. He is also affiliated with the National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB).
